THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE
OF AMERICA,
Defendant

DENTON COUNTY, TEXAS

PLAINTIFF'S ORIGINAL PETITION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER, INJUNCTION AND DAMAGES

TO THE HONORABLE COURT:

Keri A. Mankin, Plaintiff, complains of The Prudential Insurance Company of America,
Defendant, and for cause of action shows:

I.

1. Plaintiff intends to conduct discovery under Level 2 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.
2. Plaintiff is an individual resident of Texas, residing at 1402 North Valley Parkway, #1203, Lewisville, Texas 75077.
3. Defendant is a life insurance company duly authorized to engage in the insurance business in Texas. Citation may be served on Defendant's designated agent for service of process at CT Corporation Systems, 1999 Bryan Street, Suite 900, Dallas, Texas 75201-3136.

II.

4. The Plaintiff is the former spouse of decedent, Marshall W. Mankin, after 23 years of marriage. There were no children born of this marriage. A Final Decree of Divorce was entered on March 26, 2015 in Cause No. 14-06489-393 in Denton County, 393rd Judicial District Court. See attached Exhibit C. Decedent died on March 12, 2016.
5. By virtue of his employment at the City of Coppell and Flower Mound, Decedent had a Prudential Group Life Insurance Policy, Control No. 6-8033, with a face value of $160,624.00 that was payable to Plaintiff prior to their divorce. Plaintiff has evidence that the Decedent intended to maintain her as the designated beneficiary by virtue of the attached email dated August 17, 2015. See attached Exhibit A and B.

III.

The Defendant has refused to honor that expressed intention in reliance on the Decedent's failure to re-designate her after the divorce under Texas Family Code 9.301. See attached Exhibits D and E.

IV.

The Defendant has threatened irreparable harm to the Plaintiff's property and rights by failing to pay her claim and threatening to distribute said proceeds to the Decedent's parents by August 10, 2016 unless retrained by a Court of law.

V.

The Defendant's conduct is without right or entitlement in that it does not treat the statute as merely a rebuttable presumption that the Decedent's parents should be the beneficiaries that can be overcome by evidence of Decedent's intention to the contrary that Plaintiff should be the beneficiary. See State Farm Life Ins. Co. v. Davis, 2008 WL 2326323 (D. Alaska 2008) (preponderance of evidence) and Allstate Life Ins. Co. v. Hanson, 200 F. Supp. 2nd 1012 (E.D. Wis. 2002) (Decedent merely had to perform some small affirmative act indicating his intent including informal acts). See attached Exhibit A.

VI.

The Plaintiff has and will continue to be damaged and injured by the Defendant's conduct by not paying said proceeds to Plaintiff.

VII.

For the reasons stated in this pleading, the Plaintiff requests that, after trial, this Court permanently enjoin the Defendant from paying the policy proceeds to anyone other than Plaintiff.

VIII.

Defendant has said it will disburse funds to Decedent's parents on or after August 10, 2016 unless restrained by a Court of law. See attached Exhibit D. Time is of the essence. A temporary restraining order should be immediately issued without notice and a temporary injunction hearing set in the next fourteen (14) days so all parties can have an evidentiary hearing.

IX.

In order to preserve the status quo and the property and rights of the Plaintiff during the pendency of this action, Defendant should be cited to appear and show cause why it should not be temporarily restrained, during the pendency of this action, from distributing said proceeds to the Decedent's parents.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

For these reasons, Plaintiff requests that:

1. A temporary restraining order be issued without notice to Defendant, restraining Defendant, its agents, servants, and employees, from directly or indirectly transferring or dispersing the proceeds of the insurance policy to anyone other than Plaintiff until further order by this Court.
2. A temporary injunction be issued, after notice to Defendant and an evidentiary hearing, restraining Defendant, its agents, servants, and employees, directly or indirectly from transferring or dispersing the proceeds of the insurance policy to anyone other than Plaintiff until further order by this Court.
3. A permanent injunction be issued, on final trial of this cause, enjoining Defendant, its agents, servants, and employees, from directly or indirectly transferring or dispersing the proceeds of the insurance policy to anyone other than Plaintiff until further order by this Court.
4. Costs of suit including reasonable attorney's fees.
5. Such other and further relief to which Plaintiff may be justly entitled, including but not limited to damages within the jurisdictional limits of this Court, together with pre-judgment and post-judgment interest as allowed by law.

Respectfully submitted,

I would like to propose that we each keep the other as beneficiaries on our life insurance and retirement policies. It would benefit both of us in the event something should happen to the other. I think after half our lives together, the survivor deserves it.

Just let me know what you think.

To Whom It May Concern,

Regarding Marshall Wayne Mankin

TMRS Retirement and Prudential Life Insurance Accounts:

I felt the need to add this letter to my case for dispute as I think the human and personal side to things can get lost in the minutia sometimes. While I can somewhat understand the meaning of divorce as an end, it is not an end to a relationship, only to a marriage – and it does not always mean it ended in a hateful, spiteful war zone. Our history began when I was 18 and he was 20, by the time I was 21 and he was 23, we were coupled together and he was raising my one year old as his own. He was by my side in 1998 when I was diagnosed with a brain tumor, which is not an easy thing for anyone much less a young couple; and again in 2003 when I was diagnosed with Crohn's disease. We had a blissful 22 years – as anyone, family or friends, would readily agree. When Wayne turned 45, he hit a mid-life crisis and had great difficulties in dealing with his inner turmoil. He did things completely out of his character, and at times was even very cruel to me. We had our fights, as couples do. I never wanted a divorce, but in the end, I needed to find my dignity and regain my self-respect. We had a reasonably amicable divorce with no attorneys involved, but it was extremely painful and we lost everything. We had to file bankruptcy and sell our home of 12 years. We had to split up our 13 animals we had rescued over the years – something that was our passion and caused great heartbreak for the both of us. One thing we agreed on from the onset was to keep each other as beneficiaries on our retirement and insurance policies. We had spent more than half our lives together and wanted to know the other would be taken care of in the event of one of our demise. He particularly wanted to ensure I would be okay regarding my ongoing medical needs, expenses, and lifelong medications. Had either of us known our divorce would invalidate our designations, we certainly would've corrected our oversight, but that's not something that can be remedied after the fact. We are not wise in the world of law but we do have common sense – to us, once we designated a beneficiary, it was legal and binding - period. A policyholder has the right to choose a beneficiary regardless of relationship; if it is not changed it is because that is their expressed desire. Why name someone specifically if a company, or anyone for that matter, can decide to invalidate or go against the policyholder's request? It seems to deem the policyholder incapable of decision making and treats the chosen as if they had predeceased the owner of the policy. I see neither justice nor reasoning in that; much less ethics. Had we wanted to re-designate another party, we could – which was our interpretation of the statement in the divorce decree giving each 100% control over our own retirement and insurance accounts. Meaning to us, with Texas being a community property state, we would each have the option of changing our beneficiaries and other portions of our policies without the permission of the other party. Since it was our intent to see to it the other was taken care of (as neither of us remarried and there were no children other than my daughter, whom he raised for 23 years) we left the beneficiary designations as originally listed. Had the tables been turned, I would hate to know he were going through this trouble to gain access to what we had expressly wished for the survivor to have. Not every divorce ends in hate but unfortunately, sometimes a marriage cannot survive no matter the amount of love. I loved him even through the bad and I will love him until my last breath. I grieved for him when he began his crisis, I grieved him when he moved out and our marriage officially ended. And I am grieving him again in this final tragic loss. Please understand our intentions and do not punish me because we were not privy to certain little known (and well hidden) rules and regulations, especially given that we cannot correct our errors now. Because we could not afford an attorney to oversee our divorce proceedings, I am now very aware of the mistakes and oversights in the entire process, again, things we cannot change after the fact. It's an extremely harsh lesson to learn and one I will certainly never forget. I would not be "taking" this money from anyone. There is no other spouse, there are no other children. I'm simply a fairly recent ex-wife, who honestly feels more like a grieving widow, who is pleading for the right thing to be done. This was a life built together over 23 years, divorce may have ended the prospect of a future together but it does not negate the past lifetime made. Nor does it change our mutual desire to see the survivor was taken care of in the event of one of our passing. It simply meant we could not live together anymore. Please grant me as valid beneficiary to the estate of Marshall Wayne Mankin, per his wishes; he wanted to know I would be taken care of if he left this world before me. I know law is open to interpretation and therefore each case should be considered with the personal story behind the events leading to this point in time. I appreciate your time and consideration to my case.

Very Respectfully,

Insured: Marshall W. Mankin
Control Number: G-8033
Claim Number: 11630135

Dear Mr. Durand, III:

We have received a Group Life Insurance claim and Group Life Accidental Insurance claim for Marshall W. Mankin. Please accept our sincere condolences. Unfortunately, we are unable to render a benefit determination at this time.

As stated in our letters dated June 03, 2016 and July 06, 2016 we are required to make payment in accordance with the most recent beneficiary designation executed by the insured. In the event that there is no designated beneficiary or no designated beneficiary who survives the insured, the insurance benefit is paid in accordance with the beneficiary provision in the Group Policy. This provision states that the insurance benefit is payable to the first of the following surviving classes: (a) spouse; (b) child(ren) in equal shares; (c) parents in equal shares; (d) siblings in equal shares; (e) estate.

We have received the information that your client was making a claim to the proceeds and in view of that request, withheld payment to allow you time to present a legal basis for your claim. As of the date of this letter, we have not received any response.

As stated in our prior letters dated June 03, 2016 and July 06, 2016 Marshall Mankin had Keri Mankin listed as beneficiary for the basic and optional coverages of both the life and accidental policies. This policy is a non-ERISA case and falls under the state laws of Texas, which is considered a revocation state. This means when Ms. Mankin and Mr. Mankin were divorced in 2015, the designations on file with the policyholder were revoked. Mr. Mankin would have needed to go back in the employee system and update the beneficiary designations to Ms. Mankin for all of the Coverages on file. We went back to the employer to see if he did this, and they confirmed that he did not update any of the beneficiary designations on file. Both claims are therefore payable via Preferential Beneficiary Statement to the next of kin of the insured based on the highest surviving heirs.

Furthermore, we have received the letters of representation that were submitted and your inquiry as to the why this policy is considered Non-ERISA. This client (City of Coppell) is a government agency. By definition, a Non-ERISA case would be where plan sponsor is governmental agency or entity (federal, state, county or municipal). Since we have just recently received the letters of representation and your question as a courtesy to you and your client Prudential will hold these funds for an additional 15 days from the date of this letter for you to legally restrain us from releasing the proceeds to the highest surviving

EXHIBIT D

(heirs of the insured. If we do not hear from you by August 10, 2016 we will release the proceeds as written on the completed Preferential Beneficiary Statement on file.)

SUBCHAPTER D. DISPOSITION OF UNDIVIDED BENEFICIAL INTEREST

§ 9.301. Pre-Decree Designation of Ex-Spouse as Beneficiary of Life Insurance

(a) If a decree of divorce or annulment is rendered after an insured has designated the insured's spouse as a beneficiary under a life insurance policy in force at the time of rendition, a provision in the policy in favor of the insured's former spouse is not effective unless:

- (1) the decree designates the insured's former spouse as the beneficiary;
- (2) the insured redesignates the former spouse as the beneficiary after rendition of the decree; or
- (3) the former spouse is designated to receive the proceeds in trust for, on behalf of, or for the benefit of a child or a dependent of either former spouse.

(b) If a designation is not effective under Subsection (a), the proceeds of the policy are payable to the named alternative beneficiary or, if there is not a named alternative beneficiary, to the estate of the insured.

(c) An insurer who pays the proceeds of a life insurance policy issued by the insurer to the beneficiary under a designation that is not effective under Subsection (a) is liable for payment of the proceeds to the person or estate provided by Subsection (b) only if:

- (1) before payment of the proceeds to the designated beneficiary, the insurer receives written notice at the home office of the insurer from an interested person that the designation is not effective under Subsection (a); and
- (2) the insurer has not interpleaded the proceeds into the registry of a court of competent jurisdiction in accordance with the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

Comment

This section attempted to correct an anomaly in Texas law regarding disposition of certain property rights in insurance policies. For example, formerly if a party was awarded an interest in a life insurance policy but did not change the designation of the ex-spouse as the beneficiary following the parties' divorce, the policy benefits would be paid to the ex-spouse on death of the insured. This was inconsistent with the Texas Probate Code rule that a beneficial designation of an ex-spouse in a will was voided by an intervening divorce. Except in rare cases, the former rule would result in an unintended disposition of benefits from a life insurance policy (a non-probate asset).

This section also deals with other forms of insurance to provide that the insurance protection is awarded to the party receiving the property unless the court otherwise expressly provides.

Unfortunately, the attempt at reform was only partially successful. The federal ERISA preempts state law governing insurance plans directly related to the employment of the insured. As the cases cited below demonstrate, the exact extent of preemption is a work in progress. Fortunately, a very substantial portion of insurance is not derived from employment, e.g., perhaps most life insurance and virtually all automobile and homeowners policies. In those instances the federal intervention into regulation of family law is inapplicable. Moreover, questions remain unanswered, such as whether a life insurance policy derived from employment may be awarded to the nonemployee spouse in the division of community property on divorce.

Of course, the employee ex-spouse may redesignate the former spouse as the beneficiary of life insurance following divorce, or the court may require the party to name the former spouse as a beneficiary or as trustee of the proceeds. The latter is often ordered to protect the interest of the children in their continued support.

Egelhoff, 532 U.S. 141, 121 S.Ct. 1322 (2001) (former spouse took as beneficiary of life insurance policies and qualified pension plan governed by ERISA notwithstanding couple's divorce; ERISA pre-empted Washington state statute that would have removed former spouse as beneficiary, thus preempting state statute)

Federal Courts

Guardian Life Ins. Co. v. Finch, 395 F.3d 238 (5th Cir. 2004) (notwithstanding Egelhoff, ex-wife's waiver of interest in life insurance policy under ERISA plan was enforceable under federal common law)

Manning v. Hayes, 212 F.3d 866 (5th Cir. 2000) (because ERISA pre-empted § 9.301, former spouse as named beneficiary took proceeds of life insurance policy acquired under ERISA plan; applying federal common law, court found that ex-spouse did not waive right to life insurance benefits in premarital agreement)

Clift v. Clift, 210 F.3d 268 (5th Cir. 2000) (Tex.) (award to husband of "any and all insurance policies insuring the life of Husband" sufficient to prevent wife from collecting proceeds under policy; language is valid waiver under ERISA)

Brandon v. Travelers Insurance Co., 18 F.3d 1321 (5th Cir. 1994) (Tex.) Irwin v. Irwin, 307 S.W.3d 383 (Tex. App.—San Antonio 2009, writ denied) (executor had no standing to contest designation of decedent's ex-wife as beneficiary of Federal Employees Group Life Insurance policy, a non-probate asset)

ORDER

KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff in this cause, has filed an Original Petition for a temporary injunction and, in connection therewith, has presented a request for a temporary restraining order, as set forth in KERI ANN MANKIN's petition. It clearly appears from the facts set forth in KERI ANN MANKIN's verified petition and affidavit that unless The Prudential Insurance Company of America, Defendant, is immediately restrained from transferring or dispersing the proceeds of the life insurance policy of MARSHALL W. MANKIN to anyone other than Plaintiff it will commit the foregoing act(s) before notice can be given and a hearing is had on Plaintiff's motion for a temporary injunction; and that if the commission of these act(s) is not restrained immediately, KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, will suffer irreparable injury because the proceeds in the amount of $160,624.00 will be disbursed to someone other than Plaintiff and may then be irretrievably lost.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that The Prudential Insurance Company of America, Defendant in this cause, be, and hereby is, commanded forthwith to desist and refrain from transferring or dispersing the proceeds of the life insurance policy of MARSHALL W. MANKIN to anyone other than Plaintiff from the date of entry of this order until and to the fourteenth day after entry or until further order of this Court.

Order
Keri Ann Mankin v The Prudential Insurance Company of America
Cause No. _____

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that The Prudential Insurance Company of America, Defendant, appear and: the petition of KERI ANN MANKIN, for temporary injunction be heard before Sherry Shipman Judge of the above-named Court, on August 22, 2016, at 1:30 o'clock, p.m., in the courtroom of the 16th Denton County courthouse, Denton, 1450 E. McKinney Avenue, Denton County, Texas 76209, then and there to show cause, if any there be, why a temporary injunction should not be issued as requested by KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff. The clerk of the court is hereby directed to issue a show cause notice to The Prudential Insurance Company of America, Defendant, to appear at the temporary injunction hearing.

The clerk of the above-entitled Court shall, forthwith, on the filing by KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, of the bond hereinafter required, and on approving the same according to the law, issue a temporary restraining order in conformity with the law and the terms of this order.

This order shall not be effective unless and until KER ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, executes and files with the clerk a bond, in conformity with the law, in the amount of

ORDER

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

The petition of KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff in this cause, for a temporary injunction came on regularly for hearing this day, due notice having been given. The parties appeared by their attorneys. On considering the evidence received and the argument of counsel, the Court finds and concludes that KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, will probably prevail on the trial of this cause; that PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA, Defendant, intends to transfer or disperse the proceeds of life insurance policy of MARSHALL W. MANKIN to someone other than Plaintiff as soon as possible and before the Court can render judgment in this cause; that if PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA, Defendant, carries out that intention, it will thereby alter the status quo and tend to make ineffectual a judgment in favor of KERI ANN MANKIN, in that Plaintiff would lose $160,624.00; and that unless PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA, Defendant, is deterred from carrying out that intention, KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, will be without any adequate remedy at law in that the proceeds would be dispersed to others and likely gone forever.

IT IS THEREFORE, ORDERED that PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA, Defendant, is commanded forthwith to desist and refrain from transferring or dispersing the proceeds of the life insurance policy of MARSHALL W. MANKIN until judgment in this cause is rendered by this Court.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that trial on the merits of this cause is ordered set for October 14, 2016, at 1:30 P.M.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA, Defendant shall hold the proceeds of said policy and not disperse to anyone on or before said trial date.

This Order shall not be effective unless and until KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, executes and files with the clerk a bond, in conformity with the law, in the amount of One hundred dollars ^{no} dollars ($ 100.00). The $100.00 bond posted for the Ex Parte TRO shall be transferred for these purposes

The clerk shall forthwith, on the filing by KERI ANN MANKIN, Plaintiff, of the bond, and on approving the bond according to the law, issue a temporary injunction in conformity with the law and the terms of this Order.

SIGNED on August 22, 2016.
